

Descriptive Writing Prompt

Descriptive writing focuses on using vivid details to paint a picture in the reader's mind. It involves describing people, places, events, or objects using sensory language, such as sight, sound, smell, taste, and touch. By using descriptive writing, you can help your readers experience what you are writing about and feel more connected to your words.

Imagine you're creating a character for a story. Choose one defining trait that encapsulates who they are, and write a detailed description of this character.

In your descriptive writing, consider:

- Paint a vivid picture of your character. What do they look like, and how do they carry themselves? How does their appearance reflect their defining trait?
- Describe how this trait shapes their actions and decisions. What are some specific examples of how they express this trait in their daily life?
- Think of a pivotal moment in the character's story where this trait becomes crucial. What challenge do they face, and how does their defining trait help or hinder them in that situation?
